Union Instructor Will Give Public Lecture
On Dean's Philosophy

Inaugurating a new function, the honorary Social Studies Club of Union College will introduce Frank Manheim, instructor in history at the college, tonight to deliver a public lecture in the old chapel at 8 o'clock on the historical philosophy of Amos Dean, Union 1826, who wrote the seven volume "History of Civilization."

Amos Dean, a native of Albany, was a lawyer, scholar and author. He was instrumental in founding the Young Men's Association, the Albany Law School, the Albany Medical School, Albany Academy for girls and Dudley Observatory.

Mr. Manheim will use as the base of his lecture Dean's "History of Civilization," which some critics believe to be the best history of civilization written by an American.

u. a. m. Jan. 1937
Mr. FRANK J. MANHEIM gave a lecture on Dec. 7 in the Old Chapel. "Amos Dean, Historian of Civilization" was his subject. AMOS DEAN was a graduate of Union College in the class of 1826, a founder of the Albany Law School and of the Dudley Observatory, and first Chancellor of the University of Iowa.

Mannheim Will Discuss Life of Colorful Figure

Apr. 12 1938
Schenectady residents who are interested in learning about one of the most romantic figures in the annals of the city, have been invited by the Schenectady County Historical Society to attend its meeting at 8 o'clock tonight at 13 Union street, when Frank Mannheim of the Union College faculty will discuss the life of Mordecai Myers.

Mr. Myers was born in Rhode Island and passed the first 10 years of his life in exile, for his parents were Tories and left the United States when the English troops departed. Mordecai returned and became a New York merchant, amassed a fortune, became grand master of the State Masonic order, a captain in the War of 1812 and represented a New York city district for five years in the state assembly. He moved to Kinderhook, where he bought the Vanderpoel mansion, was elected village president and entertained the most distinguished citizens of the state. At 64 years of age he lost his money, had to sell his home and, with most of his 10 children, returned to New York to recoup his fortune. This he succeeded in doing and at the age of 72 retired to Schenectady. He was elected mayor of the city in 1851 and again in 1854, but was badly defeated when he ran for Congress at the age of 84.

Mordecai Myers died in 1871 and is buried in Vale cemetery. His home in Schenectady was at 231 Union street, where one of his daughters lived until 1903.

FRANK J. MANHEIM is represented by an article "George Stillman Hillard-- an Early American Apostle of Human Geography" in the January issue of THE BULLETIN OF THE GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY OF PHILADELPHIA. Jan. 1937

u. a. m. June 1940
FRANK J. MANHEIM, instructor at Union, 1936-8, was married July 8, 1939, in Cali, Colombia, to Mrs. Ellen Althouse Anheuser of St. Louis. They divide their time between New York and Cali, where Mr. Manheim is interested in mining operations.
